The Voluntary Sector Awards

If, like us, you are loving this hot weather, why not shelter in doors and write a nomination for someone in your organisation for The Voluntary Sector Awards

Filling out a nomination for the Voluntary Sector Awards doesn't have to be stressful - just a few words to let us know how much someone means to your organisation.

Your trustees, the young people your employees - are all worthy of mention so why not take a few minutes and congratulate them. It really couldn't be easier.

It doesn't cost a penny to nominate someone to The Voluntary Sector Awards, but being nominated is worth a fortune to those who work and volunteer with you.

We don't expect you to write pages – just a maximum of 250 words – if you nominated someone for every category that would be 2,500 words, you've had funding bids rejected that have taken longer! However, for a quick 250 words you could make someone's day. Put a smile on a face that will last longer than a day – a smile that will last a lifetime.

Showcase your organisation

This year at The Voluntary Sector Awards, we are making space at the back of the auditorium for groups and organisations to bring along a display should they wish. Gives you a great chance to put up a display, hand out some promotional leaflets or just chat to interested members of the public. Then, when the awards are underway you can sit down and watch them!

If you want to make the most of this great opportunity then please get in touch.

Tickets are just £9, including £2 booking fee and available from Chesterfield Borough Council. As usual all shortlisted organisations will get 2 free tickets.
